

The Healing History of 14100 Glengyle Street

In 1992, this site first became HOW House, a men's transitional living home for recovery from alcohol and drug use disorders. Established by recovery community leader Mark Scott, HOW House asked for a commitment of Honesty, Open-mindedness, and Willingness. Here, countless homeless adult men found support and a safe place to call their own during the recovery process.

When L.A. CADA's behavioral health treatment program for pregnant and parenting women and their infants needed a new site, the men of HOW House generously relocated, giving their facility and its large outdoor space to women and children in recovery a new home.

L.A. CADA co-founder, Alice Allen, passed away in May, 2019, and the name of this new facility was born...

ALICE'S HOUSE.

This program serves as a living testimony to her memory, and an everlasting gift to the community Mrs. Allen loved and served so well.

Los Angeles Centers for Alcohol and Drug Abuse (L.A. CADA) is a non-profit, 501(c)3 agency established in 1971. We are dedicated to providing care for diverse underserved and disadvantaged populations in Los Angeles County with substance use and mental health disorders.

Our agency provides the community with a broad continuum of client-centered, culturally-responsive behavioral health services. L.A. CADA delivers evidence-based residential treatment; bridge housing; intensive outpatient and outpatient treatment, as well as jail-based, school-based, and community-based services.

WELCOME TO ALICE'S HOUSE

This 18-bed, women-specific behavioral health-care program provides evidence-based residential treatment for pregnant and post-partum women struggling with substance use and co-occurring disorders.

Our program offers a safe, supportive environment that nurtures women as they work towards family healing and recovery. Alice's House delivers counseling, education, and support for the issues that affect women: pregnancy, motherhood, relationships, reproductive health, physical and sexual abuse, as well as help for building life skills and self-worth.

All services at Alice House are trauma-informed. We understand the impact of trauma in the lives of women and their children, and our program delivers one-on-one assistance for healing, together with trauma education and peer support.

At Alice's House, women find a safe place to reclaim and sustain healthy connections to family, friends and self. In turn, these connections reduce the risk of relapse and Department of Children and Family Services involvement, while improving the lives of women and those they love.

COMMUNITY-BASED CARE

As a Drug Medi-Cal provider, Alice's House is an active part of the community. Our program coordinates services with local healthcare agencies, other community-based organizations, and social services, such as MAMA's and Project 180. We collaborate with the OB GYN unit at County USC Medical Hospital to provide wraparound medical care for perinatal clients with high-risk pregnancies.

L.A. CADA has also worked extensively with the correctional system. Alice's House staff can provide service linkage and assistance for various legal issues that impact women and their children.

In addition, we have working partnerships with vocational rehabilitation centers, employment services, and colleges. This support helps women reclaim their roles as mothers, and enhances their ability to lead productive lives.

When Alice House residents graduate from treatment, our staff coordinates with L.A. CADA Outpatient Services to ensure women are linked to an appropriate step-down level of care to provide continued support in their new lives.
